

Pike pole with fiberglass handle Inforest

The pike pole is a tool used in structure and urban fires to remove, hook, push, break, or clean in areas with fire. This tool can be used to break openings, open ceilings, and remove fuel.

The aluminium head has a tip and a hook. The first one is used for penetration and digging, helping to find hidden fire in ceilings or confined spaces, while the second one allows to hook and remove facilitating cooling tasks.

The handle is made of fiberglass and it is 1.80 mt. long. On request in wooden material.

Length: 1,95 mt

Weight: 2,5 kg

Head material: aluminium

Code 70.0101.061